

Abstract

A test for diagnostic tests, particularly for testing blood prior to a transfusion is disclosed. The test element comprises at least two test units for carrying out at 5 least two tests. The test element is provided with a fixing means for fixing said test element.